How do remote scribe services work?

Our remote scribes are trained professionals who assist healthcare providers with documentation tasks, through a secure online platform. The remote scribe can work from any location and can provide real-time documentation services.

During a patient encounter, the healthcare provider interacts with the patient as normal and the scribe listens (via a secure web meeting) & documents the encounter in the patient's electronic medical record (EMR) in real-time. The remote scribe can also assist with tasks such as ordering labs, e-Rx, and compliance, which can help healthcare providers focus on patient care.

Overall, the role of a remote scribe is to help healthcare providers save time, reduce administrative burden, and improve the quality of patient care by providing accurate and efficient documentation services.

Using a world-class remote scribe service can bring a number of benefits, including:
